DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of the Group I invention in the reply filed on 01 April 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the Groups I-IV are not independent as they are usable together. This is not found persuasive because the pliers of Group I is clearly not usable with a combination tool of Groups II or III as they are separate tools as is the cutter of Group IV. Applicants are claiming the individual tools, i.e. a pliers, combination of a pliers with tools in the handles, combination of a pliers with a cutter and a cutter, separately as if they are each separate and distinct, i.e. independent tools. The specification clearly shows that all the independent tools are joined into one device, however the claims are not to this type of combination tool, but to each individual, independent sub tool.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 3, 4, 6-12 and 14-20 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 01 April 2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1, 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Both the specification and claim 1 refer to a spring (66) as being within the head and biasing the jaws apart when the handles are both in the folded and unfolded position (paragraph 0015 and claim 1). This is impossible as the spring 66 clearly only biases the jaws apart in any condition of the handles. Paragraph 0080 clearly states this feature of the spring, thus there is no single spring that will perform the function of biasing the jaws apart in the unfolded condition of the handles and biasing the jaws together in the folded condition of the handles.

5. Normally a claim which fails to comply with the first and/or second paragraph of § 112 will not be analyzed as to whether it is patentable over the prior art since to do so would of necessity require speculation with regard to the metes and bounds of the claimed subject matter, In re Steele, 308 F.2d 859, 862-63, 134 USPQ 292, (CCPA 1962) and In re Wilson, 424 F.2d 1382, 1385, 496 USPQ 494, 496 (CCPA 1970).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

⁽a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over any of Rivera, Chang or Berg et. al. in view of either Lin or Chen.

Any of Rivera, Chang or Berg et. al. shows the claimed invention except for the use of a two piece handle with the pieces secured by means of a tongue and groove construction. Either Lin or Chen suggests that a handle can be made in two pieces secured by a tongue and groove construction to allow for easier assembly of the handle onto the device to which it is to be secured. It would therefore be obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to modify any of Rivera, Chang or Berg et. al. by using a two piece handle secured by means of a tongue and groove construction because either Lin or Chen suggests the use of such a construction in the making of handles to allow for easier assembly of the handle onto the device to which it is to be secured.

- 8. Igarashi is cited as showing the use of a spring within the head of a pliers type of tool to bias the jaws apart at all times.
